Introduction

Forum for Women, Law and Development (FWLD) is an autonomous, non-profit, non-governmental organization established on May 29, 1995 for the protection, promotion and enjoyment of women's rights, children's rights, minorities' rights and the rights of marginalized groups by a team of 7 dedicated human rights lawyers. The organization since its time of inception has been involved in filing noteworthy Public Interest Litigations (PIL's) and has been successful in criminalizing marital rape, ensuring confidentiality to victims and witnesses in cases of gender-based violence, approaching equality between sons and daughters on rights to ancestral property, in guaranteeing reproductive health rights i.e. abortion for women and many other law reforms.

FWLD is committed to providing legal aid and services to victims of gender-based violence (GBV) and domestic violence (DV). It is also an integral part of various national, regional, and international networks. Through these connections, FWLD work towards implementing international human rights instruments, reforming structures that hinder marginalized groups' access to development, and promoting networking, training, advocacy, research, legal aid, and PILs. Our collaborative efforts aim to facilitate the domestic application of International Human Rights Instruments, combat gender-based violence, promote and realize Human Rights, and ensure access to justice for all.

WHO WE ARE

FWLD's mission can be achieved by constantly working to change the discriminatory laws and the discrimination embedded in society and culture. We work on creating institutions and bringing resources to promote the rights of marginalized groups, looking into the cross-cutting effects of laws, and understanding intersectionality. This can be achieved through the implementation of international human rights instruments, and by reforming the structures that deny marginalized groups' access to development. Our mission is to empower the marginalized and aid in overall development.

VISION

FWLD envisions a world where human rights are fully realized where social injustice and discrimination are eradicated, and where equality prevails.

MISSION

GOAL

To create and sustain a just and equitable society

Stakeholders Analysis

Policymakers	Federal, provincial and local level policymakers hold key positions in formulating laws and policies to address various issues. If they are well-oriented about the subject matter and the issues, they can effectively incorporate these concerns into the laws and policies making.	There should be smooth relationship between policymakers and the organization
Justice and Security Actors	Many legal issues and challenges intersect with matters of justice and security. By involving justice and security actors, we can adopt a more holistic approach to tackling these issues. Collaborating with justice and security actors can amplify the impact our initiatives. These actors possess resources, expertise, and authority that can help us achieve our goals more effectively.	A harmonious relationship and effective coordination must be upheld with justice and security actors.
Implementing actors	Various implementing agencies are responsible for the execution of all laws and policies. However, without their effective implementation, the purpose behind formulating these laws and policies remains unfulfilled. The ultimate aspiration is to ensure that justice is experienced by the people.	There should be proper coordination with the implementing actors.
Civil Society	Civil Societies have a significant role in raising issues of Legal support to the leadership position by transferring information as it will be difficult to make policy-level.	It is required to expand the network inclusive of brotherhood and proximity with civil societies to make positive changes, raising campaigns, accumulating mass, and gaining support from larger communities on such issues.
Private Sector	The private sector has the main role to improve the organization documentations.	Expanding relationships by making them friendly relations.
Media	Media has a significant role to transforming the information of all peoples.	Establishing friendly relations with all types of media to advocate and provide information on among the target populations.
